Message from the Executive Director

This month, the National Armaments Consortium will achieve a major milestone, as we join with our partners at DOTC and CC-NJ, to announce details of a new process and path forward with the government. We are very excited about this moment and believe it will open up new opportunities for our government customers and NAC members to develop rapid and effective prototypes that meet the needs of our warfighters.

NAC Chairman James Miller and I will be joined by the DOTC enterprise leadership team including; Director of DOTC, LTC Tanglao; OSD(R&E) Director of Weapons and Platforms, Mr. Mike Holthe; ACC-NJ Senior Contracting Official and Executive Director, Mr. Tom Dougherty, Chief DOTC operations, Mr. Ryan Ordemann; and Chief, DOTC Business and Planning, Tim Garry.

This will be an opportunity to learn about the new process and schedule for FY21, along with the status of the current award pipeline, and the status of 19-04 and 19-05 competitive evaluations.

If you have any questions regarding registration, please email ATI's Rapid Response Team at nacmf@nacconsortium.org or call 843-760-3481. Major thanks to all of you for your continued dedication to developing the most innovative technologies for our men and women in uniform.

Finally, I would like to congratulate the NAC members who won awards in June and July. Your hard work and creativity clearly shows, and I am proud to work with you and be a part of this incredible collaborative team. Please check out the latest list of awards on our website.

Sincerely,
Charlie Zisette
Executive Director
